Quotestream wireless offers the most features of any wireless stock market data application.

QuoteMedia Target Market

Through its cloud-based technological superiority, comprehensive product offerings and cost-effective product lines, QuoteMedia is quickly gaining market share in the multi-billion-dollar financial data delivery market.

QuoteMedia provides stock market data, news feeds and other related financial software solutions that rival or exceed the quality and functionality of products from companies such as Bloomberg and Thomson Reuters at a considerably lower cost and reduced integration period.

As the number of trading positions are scaled back coupled with the decline in trading volumes, banks and brokerages have no choice other than to seriously consider the innovative, low-cost, high functionality alternative which QuoteMedia offers.

The overall Company's objective is to increase its top line revenue growth through primarily capturing market share within the data feed, application, and financial web content markets. The company will accomplish this objective by aggressively exploiting its partnership with the TSX Exchange and other clients such as banks, brokers, mobile carriers, and large-scale web portals.
